I am programming for a few years now, I love both backend and frontend technologies, and I know how to integrate them and how communicate properly, and also how to develop and build APIs.

I always use agile methods and good practices like TDD with wireframing and mockups of high definitions, GIT, Kanban or Scrum, POP (Prototype-based programming) and OOP (Object-oriented programming), I like to define DTO's, entities and work in an encapsulated way, for a better scalability of the infrastructure. Following principles of DDD (Domain driven design)
